DISCOVERY TO CURE

Discovery to Cure was launched in 2003 to provide women with new methods for the prevention, early detection and treatment of gynecologic cancers. The direct connection between the research lab and clinical patient care makes Discovery to Cure one of America's leading centers for women's reproductive cancer research and treatment.

All Gala proceeds benefit research for the prevention, early detection and treatment of women's reproductive cancers.

Peter E. Schwartz, MD

Dr. Peter E. Schwartz is the John Slade Ely Professor of Gynecology and has been a member of the Yale Cancer Center since he joined the Yale School of Medicine Faculty in 1975. He was the first Director of the Division of Gynecologic Oncology, which he formed in 1978 and the first Director of the Gynecologic Oncology Fellowship Training Program, which was approved by the American Board of Obstetrics and Gynecology, Division of Gynecologic Oncology in 1980. Dr. Schwartz has served as President of the New Haven Obstetrical Society, The New England Association of Gynecologic Oncologists, The Felix Rutledge Society and The Society for Gynecologic Oncology. His research has focused on gynecologic cancers and their treatment. He is recognized as an international expert in the management of the rare germ cell malignancies, as well as introducing neoadjuvant chemotherapy into the treatment of the common advanced stage epithelial ovarian cancers which now has been accepted as a standard treatment by the National Comprehensive Cancer Network for the United States. Dr. Schwartz has published more than 450 peer-reviewed articles and book chapters, has inspired many medical students and resident physicians to pursue careers in gynecologic oncology, has been a role model for gynecologic surgeons and has been consistently recognized as one of America's Top Doctors.

Congresswoman Rosa DeLauro

Congresswoman Rosa DeLauro is a 31 year ovarian cancer survivor. She attributes her triumph over cancer to the grace of God and biomedical research. As a survivor, Rosa has used her position in Congress and on the Appropriations Committee to advocate for cancer patients and research. She founded and co-chairs the Congressional Ovarian Cancer Research Caucus, which raises awareness and promotes research for ovarian cancer. Rosa has championed legislation to support patients including requiring insurance coverage for at least a 48 hour hospital stay after a mastectomy. Last year, Rosa fought to increase the National Institutes of Health (NIH) budget by $2 billion. Going forward, Rosa wants to once again double the NIH's budget to accelerate the discovery of new cures and treatments.

Gladys and Jerry O'Neil

Teal Sneaker Award Recipients

Gladys and Jerry are very blessed to be participants and strong supporters of the work of Discovery to Cure. Gladys was first diagnosed in 2005 with a rare and deadly form of endometrial cancer, and it was the amazing team at Yale Cancer Center, with the help of the Lord, that enabled her to be here today. The Yale gynecologic oncologists and their magnificent team provided incredible support and medical treatment throughout the entire healing process. They coordinated closely with and supervised the treatment given to her not only at Yale, but at Stamford Cancer Center as well. Today, Gladys and Jerry "pay it forward" by helping to support other cancer patients and their families.
